WILD, WILD, TULARE COUNTY RECREATION

A FOUR-SIDED exhibit from Tulare county at the California State fair is a real "crowd stopper," what with 14 animated mountain men depicting the recreational wonders of the Wild Wild Western High Sierra of Tulare County. Winter sports, camping, fishing and hunting are featured, with scenes surrounding a central log cabin. Exciting recreation, Giant Redwoods, and Mineral King take top billing; agricultural displays are also featured. The exhibit, according to Wayne Robertson, secretary-manager of the county chamber who is passing out county literature at the state fair will be taken to the Los Angeles County fair that runs September 12-28.

Editorial Comment

WE NEED CHANGE, BUT...

In a refreshing switch on the all-too prevalent campus script, Dr. Robert D. Clark left the presidency of San Jose State College recently with praise from his students, his faculty, and the trustees of the California State Colleges. He also left a sound philosophy for campus leadership:

"I have strong convictions about the need for change, but I have equally strong feelings about the way change is effected. I'm not going to break down the important institutions of this society in order to bring it about."

To the University of Oregon, of which he now becomes president, congratulations.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER, JR.

California Senator George Murphy has made public some disturbing information which he terms "a shocking attempt to mislead the public" in testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor.

Murphy introduced a statement on the Senate floor this week which accused the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, through its general counsel, Jerome Cohen, of presenting "false evidence" to the subcommittee.

The senator said:

"On August 1, 1969, Jerry Cohen... appeared before that subcommittee and testified that two bunches of Thompson seedless grapes contained quantities of the chemical (pesticide) aldrin which were 180 times the established tolerance level for human beings. Mr. Cohen submitted a laboratory report from the C. W. England Laboratory, of Washington, D.C., showing an aldrin content of 18 parts per million compared with the legal tolerance level of .10 parts per million.

"The England Laboratory, in later comments to the news media, said that the grapes they tested had been presented to them by a representative of the UFWOC and were not purchased or obtained from any market directly by the laboratory.

"After this testimony the Food and Drug Administration, at the request of the Subcommittee Chairman Senator Mondale, has conducted tests of table grapes in markets across the country. It obtained 60 samples, including 48 from retail outlets in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and the Washington-Baltimore area. It also sampled 12 carlots in the San Francisco

A PRICELESS RECIPE

In a health emergency, the little slip of paper on which your physician writes his prescription is priceless. You wouldn't part with it under any circumstances.

However, once the emergency has passed, human nature being what it is, you are apt to forget how valuable the prescription really was. Maybe you even grumble a little at its out-of-pocket cost, failing to remember the doctor's professional skill, the countless hours of pharmaceutical research and many other factors that made the "recipe" possible in a health crisis.

Permit our prescription department to fill your next "recipe for health."

market.

"The Food and Drug Administration report shows there was no aldrin residue on any grapes. It also shows there was no chemical residue of any nature on any grape sample that approached the human tolerance level."

Murphy introduced evidence rendering it impossible for aldrin to be on grapes in the Washington area. He pointed out with affidavits and statements that aldrin is not used in vineyards in Kern County, sole source for all grapes in Washington at the time of the hearing.

Then he leveled his charge: "The conclusion is clear: the grapes presented to the England Laboratory had somehow achieved strange qualities which I find very difficult to explain. And it seems possible that a subcommittee of the U.S. Senate has been the victim of duplicity."

"If this be the case—this tactic on the part of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee is a vicious type of deceit and makes clear the witness has raised the pesticide question as part of UFWOC's 'rule or ruin' methods."

Murphy introduced information from a dozen table grape growers who negotiated with UFWOC last June. The information included a statement UFWOC had given—in writing—to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service:

"That we are prepared to give a moratorium to the whole industry on the pesticide campaign for a limited time in exchange for an acceptable contract covering all workers, all crops."

"This might be," said Murphy, "a new type of biological blackmail."

orchards; second photo shows peaches being packed. For the first time a tight-fill carton

TIGHT-FILL PEACH PACK BEING USED AT ROBERTS FARMS

By Terry Bergfalk

POPLAR — Harvesting one of their largest peach crops, Roberts Farms of Poplar is also introducing for the first time this season the packing of peaches in tight-filled carton packs. This method has been widely used in the plum industry for several years and is also being used by peach growers and packers in southern and eastern states.

After extensive research on whether the tight-filled carton pack would work on peaches, Roberts Farms officials decided this season to try it on their Royal Fay variety, their clings and freestone.

The Royal Fays originated by Fred Williams, who introduced the variety commercially in 1945 is a bud mutation of Fay Elberta. A freestone, it is firm, and yellow in color, with sparse short fuzz.

Donald Bendoski, sales manager of Roberts Farms, believes the tight-filled carton pack is a faster and more economical way of packing peaches and will be used exclusively in the future.

He said, "The peach industry now is not accustomed to this type of packing, but it recognizes it must turn to more mechanization in packing methods to offset increasing costs."

He estimates that Roberts Farms will market 33,000 tight filled cartons this season.

He also feels that as the tight-filled carton becomes more plentiful on the market and better known, growers and packers will turn toward this method.

New equipment has been placed at the plant this year at a cost of $75,000.

Peaches being brought in from the fields are first placed in bin dumps, then on a conveyor belt where some sorting is done. From there the fruit goes through a hydrocolor which showers the peaches with ice water for four and a half minutes, cooling the fruit to a temperature of 65 degrees. This is done to extend the shelf life of the fruit, since an accelerated method of dropping the temperature tends to slow fruit maturity.

After the ice bath, a light coat of wax is sprayed over each peach, followed by a second sorting and grading. Part of the fruit goes to the now popular place-pak line, the other to the tight-filled carton line. Here the fruit is sorted a third time for both firmness and grade.

It is then conveyed to rubber-lined bins and rolled into large cartons.

Placed on another conveyor by a worker, the carton is weighed and stamped and sent to the case sealer where a light vibrator settles the fruit evenly in the carton. After the cartons are sealed, they are placed in the 100 car or 100,000 box cold storage plant for later shipping. Under the new method, 800 tight-filled cartons are packed per day compared to 400 of the place-pak.

At Roberts Farms Poplar plant, 750 to 1000 tons of peaches are being processed a day with more than 100 persons working at the plant and 500 in the fields. Shipment has been at 12,000 boxes and cartons each day, with approximately 10,000 being shipped to super markets in Southern California while 2,000 are being shipped out of state.

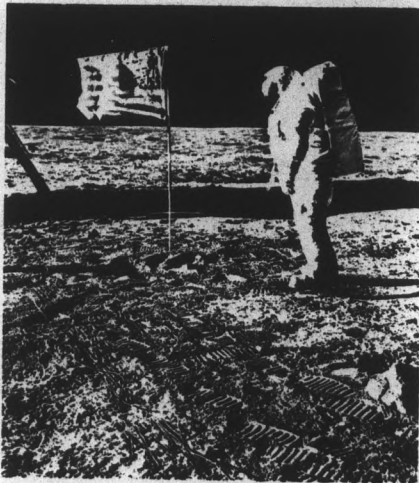

The Royal Fay peach is grown exclusively by Roberts Farms. The sport bud was first discovered by a foreman in an orchard in the Poplar area when the farm was owned by Fred Williams, who then offered a $50 reward for anyone finding any more.

Robert Alcazar, one of the foremen who is still working on the ranch today, recalls the incident, "We were all looking for sport buds, which were taken to a laboratory for experimentation after we found them."

The first Royal Fay grove was planted about 13 years ago and since then has become Roberts' largest producing fruit trees. The fruit is grown mostly in southern Tulare county with 20 acres now planted in the Tehachapi area where no fruit has yet been produced.

'Hands Off' Jet Landings In Fog Are Now Possible At NAS Lemoore

LEMOORE — Jet pilots at Naval Air Station Lemoore, the Navy's newest and largest master jet air station, will no longer have to worry about air operations being cancelled when the Tule fog comes rolling in during the winter months.

A new, completely-automatic landing system, AN/SPN-42T1, has been installed at the south end of runway 32L that will allow pilots to make "hands-off" landings in any type of weather.

NAS Lemoore is the first shore base on the West coast to receive the system, and only the second in the country, the first being NAS Oceana, Va. Three aircraft carriers are employing the system, USS Forrestal, USS J.F. Kennedy and USS Saratoga.

When operational, the system works basically like this: The pilot makes his approach. As he reaches a point eight miles from touchdown, he enters an acquisition "window" set up by the search radar of SPN-42. The "window" is an area 10,000 feet wide, 640 feet high and 1,200 feet deep at four miles. Once in the "window", one of the two radar reflectors will "lock-on" a small reflector attached to the aircraft, while the second radar channel takes over the search function to acquire the next aircraft.

Discrete lock-on signals are transmitted to the aircraft by means of the data-link process. The pilot engages the auto-control coupler and acknowledges "pilot ready". Upon receipt of pilot ready, SPN-42 takes full control of the aircraft. After touchdown, the radar returns automatically to the search mode and begins the acquisition cycle for the next aircraft.

Once the aircraft has entered the "window" and the system is locked-on, the pilot has three options with which to land the aircraft: Mode I, the fully-automatic "hands-off" landing, with SPN-42 in control; Mode II, the Instrument Landing System (ILS) type, where the pilot lands manually using instruments and data transmitted by the SPN-42 computers; and Mode III, the Ground Controlled Approach, or talkdown, generally in use by the Navy, and at NAS Lemoore.

The installation at NAS Lemoore will provide Lemoore-based pilots with the training necessary for carrier operations. Aboard a carrier the system also transmits to the aircraft the ship's pitch, roll, yaw, and vertical motions, yet still allows the "hands-off" landing.

Not only is there a feeling of fall in the air but it is in fact almost fall. Some people feel this in their bones, some smell it in the early morning air, others just look at the calendar and say, "Look it's fall already." Nurserymen know because flower bulbs start arriving and young started bedding plants in flats appear on our tables.

If you wish to brighten up your garden next spring now is the time to plug in a few bulbs. These require no electricity very little care, and will amaze you when they come up and flower. Among those available now are Freesia, Watsonia, Snowflake, Star of Bethlehem, Calla Lily, Sparaxis, and three colors of spider lily. Many of the spider lilies will bloom in about six weeks if planted soon.

Among the young started bedding plants are Calendula which bloom in the very coldest days of winter. They come in orange or yellow and like a bright sunny location. There are also Snapdragon and Stock which should be set out now for early spring bloom. Of course there are others and each week there will be more varieties to entice you.

We will be closed on Labor Day but after that we will settle down and take your money in our usual manner. In fact during the over thirty years that we've been on this side of "E" street, and for several years before, we have never been known to refuse cash. This fall will be no different.

We Only Heard

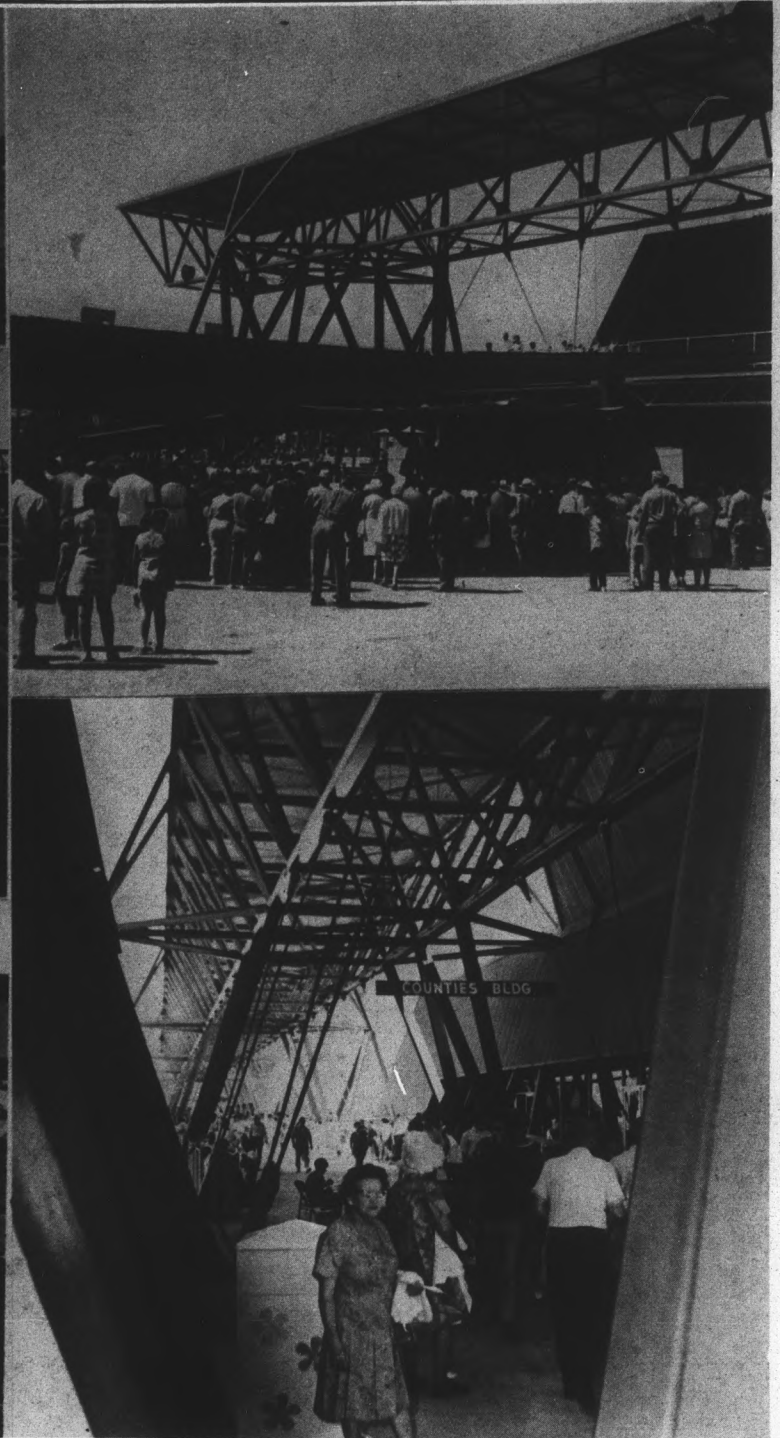

BY BILL RODGERS

ART BODLEY, who recently appeared before the Tulare county board of supervisors with a group of farmers to strongly protest the exemption of city property owners from the structural fire tax, received a glowing letter from Porterville Mayor Richard Spencer thanking him for his support of the city position. . . Art didn't know whether to get mad or laugh - but actually he can laugh this one off. The letter can be charged to bureaucratic foul-up. Someone got the right name on the wrong list or the wrong name on the right list, or vice versa.

SO OFF we go to the California State fair - along with a few other folks who are setting attendance records. . . And what a magnificent setup this new state fair grounds is. They don't need flags on the poles - you just imagine thousand dollar bills flying in the breeze, what with elaborate, two-story, air conditioned exhibit buildings, a fancy horse-race setup, big but poorly-designed livestock barns, waterways, lagoons and little lakes scattered through the grounds (the new setup is alongside the American river), great steel and concrete monuments to something or other, plenty of space for carnivals and for expansion, a rodeo arena, an overhead sightseeing tram - and excellent community and commercial exhibits. . . Perhaps motif of the new fair grounds should evolve around a white elephant, since the state legislature, a few years back, suffering a severe attack of delusions of grandeur, decided to sell the old state fair grounds and build a new facility to house a permanent California Exposition. . . The Cal Expo idea laid a big fat egg when business and industry failed to jump at the idea; what was supposed to be the 1968 state fair was pretty much of a fiasco; the current 1969 fair, however, back on the old-fashioned fair beam, is drawing record crowds. . . Governor Ronald Reagan has indicated he favors unloading the new State Fair facility to private business, with which we agree, except the plan does not go far enough. The state should unload all of its fair facilities to individuals or public agencies and get out of this business. . . Scuttle butt is that a deal with private business is in the making in so far as the new fair grounds is concerned, however, no one with whom we talked really knew what will happen to the state fair as such if this is done. Certainly, private business will not put on a fair that consistently loses money like the state has been doing for years. . . At any rate, California now has two state fair grounds in Sacramento - the old grounds that still has not been sold and that is going to wrack and ruin, the new grounds, beautiful to behold - and both up to their you know what in debt.

RAISIN PIE BAKERS GET CHANCE AT FAME AND TROPHIES IN CONTEST AT TULARE COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 19

TULARE — Pie bakers from throughout Tulare county are getting ready for the annual Sun Maid Raisin Pie Baking contest to be held again this year at the Tulare County fair, sponsored jointly by the Sun Maid Raisin Growers of California and the Tulare county chamber of commerce. The event will be held on Friday, September 19, as one of the many features of the Fair, that runs September 16-21.

Pies may be entered in each of three separate divisions and must contain at least one cup of raisins. The recipe used must accompany each entry.

The three divisions are: All raisin pie; one crust raisin pie with cream or custard; and raisin pie, any other type. Those persons entering the contest should notify the Tulare county chamber of commerce of their entry, either by writing to Room 100 of the Courthouse in Visalia, or by calling 732-5511 extension

Each contestant who enters will then be sent a merchandise certificate from Sun Maid Growers with which they may obtain raisins for their pies from the grower of their choice, compliments of Sun Maid. All pies entered will remain the property of the Tulare County Fair and none will be returned. There is no limit on the number of pies a contestant may enter.

First prize in each division will be a handsomely engraved gold trophy, provided by the Raisin Growers, and a blue ribbon. Second and third place winners will be awarded appropriate ribbons. The first place winners from each division will then compete for the sweepstakes trophy to determine the Tulare county Raisin Pie Baking Champion for 1969. This winner will receive a large perpetual gold sweepstakes trophy, which will be retained by the winner for one year and then returned for the next year's sweepstakes winner.

In addition, Sun Maid Raisin Growers will award a large attractive gift package of assorted raisins to the division winners and will give each a planned VIP tour of the Sun Maid Raisin plant in Kingsburg. Also, they have announced that the prize winning recipe will be published in a new Sun Maid Raisin Grower's Recipe book, which will be published soon, with world wide distribution.

Pies for the contest will be

MAURINE ABRAMSON, Miss Tulare County 1969, receiving a gift package of Sun Maid raisins from John Loeprich, Industrial Relations director of Sun Maid

Raisin Growers of California. Miss Abramson plans to bake a pie for the Annual Raisin Pie-Baking contest at the Tulare County Fair on September 19th.

received on Friday morning, September 19, from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon in the Home Economics building at the Tulare County fairgrounds. Judges for the contest will be provided by officials of the Tulare County Fair. Awards will be made to the winners immediately following the judging. All contestants are asked to be present for the awarding of the prizes at approximately 3:00 p.m. in the Home Economics building.

All members of the Board of Directors of the County Chamber plan to be present, as well as officials from Sun Maid Raisin Growers of California who will aid in making the awards.

Information concerning the contest may be secured by calling the Tulare county chamber of commerce office, 732-5511 extension 361.

ORDINANCE NO. 1334
AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTIONS 7106, 7107, 7112, 7115, 7116, 7117, 7118 AND 7119 OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF TULARE COUNTY, ADDING SECTIONS 7120 AND 7121 TO SAID ORDINANCE CODE, AND REPEALING SECTION 7111 OF SAID ORDINANCE CODE, PERTAINING TO SUBDIVISIONS AND OTHER DIVISIONS OF LAND.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF TULARE DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Section 7106 of the Ordinance Code of Tulare County is hereby amended to read as follows:

SECTION 7106. BASIS FOR APPROVAL: The Lot Split Committee shall approve the proposed division of land whenever all of the following conditions are complied with:

(a) The lots which will be created by the proposed division of land conform to all of the applicable zoning and building code regulations in effect in the area and comply with the regulations set forth in this Chapter pertaining to size, shape and dimensions of lots in subdivisions.

(b) Any new streets to be established in connection with a division of land or to be dedicated pursuant to section 7107 of this article conform to the provisions of this Chapter, and the standards referred to in section 7080, pertaining to subdivision streets.

(c) The property is not subject to ponding of surface water, slides or similar hazards if the property is intended for uses other than agriculture.

(d) The disposal of sewage from or within the lot will not constitute a health problem.

Provided, however, that when the purpose of the division of land is to convey land to an abutting property owner, the only conditions that shall be required as a basis for approval of the division of land by the Lot Split Committee shall be those set forth in subsection (a) of this section.

Section 2. Section 7107 of the Ordinance Code of Tulare County is hereby amended to read as follows:

SECTION 7107. DEDICATIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS: If it appears that dedication of right of way to the County is required for adequate access to the lots to be created by the proposed division of land, or required to bring an existing street into conformity with the right of way widths set forth in the standards referred to in section 7080 of this Chapter, the Lot Split Committee shall approve the proposed division of land subject to the condition precedent that the owner convey to the County such property as may be required for public road purposes. The person making a division of land shall not be required to make any dedications to the County except as provided in this section and shall not be required to make any of the improvements referred to in Article 10 of this Chapter or in the Subdivision Map Act.

The action of the Lot Split Committee shall be final unless such an appeal is filed within said fifteen (15) day period. An appeal shall be in writing, shall be filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors and shall state specifically wherein it is claimed there was an error or abuse of discretion by the Lot Split Committee. Upon the filing of an appeal, the Lot Split Committee shall transmit to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors copies of all documents in the files of the Committee pertaining to the division of land. The Clerk of the Board of Supervisors shall give notice to the person filing the appeal and to the Lot Split Committee of the date when the appeal will be heard by the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall act on the appeal within seven (7) days after the close of the hearing and shall report its action to the person filing the appeal and the Planning Commission. The Board of Supervisors may affirm, reverse or modify the action of the Planning Commission.

SECTION 7120. EXCEPTIONS FROM DIVISION OF LAND REQUIREMENTS: The Lot Split Committee shall consider the application for an exception from the requirements for a division of land at the same meeting at which it considers the proposed division of land. The Lot Split Committee may grant the requested exception, with or without conditions, if the Committee makes the same findings as are set forth in section 7118 of this Article with regard to subdivisions.

Section 11. Section 7121 is hereby added to Article 8 of Chapter 1 of Part VII of the Ordinance Code of Tulare County to read as follows:

Section 12. The General Provisions of the Ordinance Code of Tulare County, consisting of section 101 through section 114, inclusive, are hereby adopted by reference and made applicable to the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 13. Any offer to sell, contract to sell, sale, or conveyance of any part of a division of land, as defined in Article 7 of Chapter 1 of Part VII of the Ordinance Code of Tulare County, before receiving the approval of said division of land required under said Article 7, shall be a misdemeanor, and any person, upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by a fine of not less than Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) and not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. THE OLD DAYS Yester-Years - On Deer Creek Hill

By S.L. Creeks

It seems strange that when people move into a locality and they see no signs designating the name of a road or hill they immediately erect a sign and call it by their last name, not trying to find out if the hill or road has a name.

I am now referring to a hill whose north slope runs to the Worth Road and the south slope to Deer Creek. This hill prior to 1900 was named Deer Creek hill but has changed its name several times. When the late Percy Hall Bennett bought the orange grove on the North slope the name changed to Bennett's hill. Then when the college students several years back put the large letter "P" on the hill they called it P hill. Then here awhile back when a fire blackened half of it, it was called Tea Pot Dome hill.

About 1884 my parents, Mr. & Mrs. A.J. Creeks, moved from Sweet Brier Creek which is located south of Dunsmuir, California, to Plano which is or was about two miles south east of Porterville. Before leaving Sweet-brier Creek they operated a way station where horses were changed on the stages going through. After living in Plano a short while Mr. Creeks took up a homestead on the west slope of Deer Creek Hill locating their small home in about the same location as Bob Bennett has his new home now. There was quite a difference in comparison of the two homes. When the home was built my mother scratched 1886 on one of the window panes which later on was removed and put in the home they built in Plano.

The family consisted of four, Mr. & Mrs. and two little girls Bessie and Pearl. The only other family on the hill was a pair of eagles, which also had their little family each year. Mr. & Mrs. Creeks raised a couple hundred turkeys to sell which Bess and Pearl watched to make sure the eagles didn't get all of them. The family's water supply was hauled in barrels from the ditch across Worth Road. One child was born while living on Deer Creek hill who's name is Camma. When she was born the doctor had a long wait so he just put up for the night.

After a few years Mr. Creeks traded his acreage to Mr. Wilko Mentz for one acre down in Plano. (Some called it Mentz hill after that.) When Pearl was seventeen she married Louis Hinton who had one acre joining the Creeks property. Pearl died when she was just past eighteen at child-birth who was a little girl by the name of Hattie.

Skipping a few years to around 1914 a man from Philadelphia came looking for Mr. Hinton as he had heard Hinton knew of a large iron ore deposit which is on Deer Creek hill on the south side. Taking the man to the location he was well pleased and contacted the man who owned the property, Dave Vaughn a cattleman.

A contract was drawn for one hundred thousand ton of the rock. It was to be moved in one year's time at no cost to Vaughn, paying him one dollar a ton for it. It was hauled to the old Lois Warehouse siding across from where Tea Pot Dome is now.

A fleet of Mac, White, and Federal trucks was used to haul the ore, all of them being chain drive.

The rock was put in gondola railroad cars and shipped east to a smelter. I don't know just what happened - whether the ore was not rich enough or whether shipping costs were too high - but that one shipment ended the mining on Deer Creek hill.

OLIVE GROWERS

should be no reduction in grower base per ton." He encouraged growers present to contact their processors, and other growers, to urge acceptance of the proposed price scale.

In other discussion during the evening, Steve Sibbett, Tulare County Farm Advisor, outlined the Extension service work in research and experimentation relative to verticillium wilt, olive knot, and harvesting problems.

Robert Gross, manager of the Federal Marketing Order for Olives, brought growers up to date on current industry carry-over and crop forecast as presented to the Olive Administrative committee at its annual meeting, August 14-15, in Sacramento. He reported there was on hand approximately eight months' supply of 24/300 cans of ripe and green ripe processed fruit, and 22 months' supply of limited canning fruit (sliced, chopped and minced).

A figure of 53,000 gross tons was presented to the committee as an estimate for the 1969 crop. Gross reported that the committee took action to reduce the amount of limited canning fruit available for processing by eliminating smaller sizes in certain varieties.

He also said he felt that the advertising activity of his office was producing most satisfactory results in the institutional field as well as wholesale trade field.

Provisions of the federal order for quality and quantity control were also outlined by Gross.

Final portion of the meeting centered around a vigorous discussion of the olive pricing situation relative to the current season. Industry sales, potential pack, and carry-over were the subject of considerable debate.

AFS STUDENT SPENDING YEAR DE FRANCO HOME

Sharing a sewing machine is the main happening these days at the Ralph De Franco home where Porterville's eleventh American Field Service student from abroad, Susanne Kihlgren of Malmo, Sweden, and her American sister, Diane De Franco, are getting their fall wardrobes in shape for opening of school.

Miss Kihlgren, a petite brown-eyed high school senior, arrived in New York early in August, remaining there for several days for orientation. Plans were for her host family to meet her at Los Angeles International Airport on August 8. However, the planning committee failed to designate whether time of arrival was a.m. or p.m.

Since the time was 3:45, the De Francos assumed it was p.m., but it wasn't, according to Miss Kihlgren. After a middle-of-the-night call, arrangements were made for the hosts to meet her later in the day in Bakersfield.

The AFS'er, who is the eldest of three children, is from a city of 200,000, which is located in southern Sweden, not far from Copenhagen, Denmark. Her father is manager of a business selling farm machinery. The De Francos, who returned from Europe just a week before the arrival of their Swedish daughter, had an opportunity to talk to her parents on the phone while abroad.

As an American Field Service scholarship recipient, Miss Kihlgren will spend the year here in the De Franco home, attending Porterville union high school with her American sister. She will be required to take U.S. History and third year English, under AFS regulations, but the remainder of her courses will be worked out with her counsellor on the high school campus.

JOAN WOODY, drillmaster for the Porterville Canterbelles, and Jack Everett, president of the Canterbelle parents' group, show off the trophy that the Canterbelles won for the third consecutive time in competition last Saturday at Santa Rosa. The riding group, for the third time California's state champion junior riding group, now keeps the trophy. The girls won by a whopping 45 points over the second-place Rockettes, of Visalia, who, in turn, barely topped the Eden Colts, of Oakland, former three-time state champions. Elmer Broad directed the girls to their first two state championships; nine of the 18 girls who made the trip to Santa Rosa, have ridden on all three championship teams: Captain Paula Wiley, Lynn Barrett, Pam Beck, Jackie Everett, Janet Everett, Denise Paul, Linda Woody, Cheri Womack, and Darnell Grant. A member of the team this year was Jill Faure, daughter of Toni Faure, first director of the Canterbelles when the organization was formed about 20 years ago.

in 1968. A senior in Lindsay High School, he is a member of California Scholarship federation; a four-year honor roll student; and was captain of the school swimming team. He hopes to turn his livestock interest into a career as a veterinarian.
